

OUR PROJECTS

All of our conservation projects are based around the education and development of people living in the areas in which we work. By working hand-in-hand with locals we create sustainable solutions. In this way, animals, nature, and people can all benefit in the long-term from our holistic and integrated approach.

BIODIVERSITY IS THE BASIS FOR ALL LIFE ON EARTH

We live on a unique planet. With its deep oceans, expansive savannas and deserts, diverse forests, and fascinating life forms, it is the basis of our existence. But more and more species and ecosystems are being irretrievably wiped out by us humans.

SAVE Wildlife Conservation Fund has been working to preserve biodiversity since 2010

Together with a network of committed supporters, partners, and locals, we realize sustainable projects all over the world. We are committed to the conservation of species, biotopes, and landscapes, and to a hopeful future for our children, where humans and wildlife peacefully coexist.

OUR VISION

To preserve the habitats of endangered species, to protect the uniqueness of nature and to sensitize people to the respectful use of natural resources - this is the vision of SAVE.

OUR STRATEGY

- We run projects around the themes of sustainability, nature, and species protection
- We promote species conservation
- We finance scholarships and offer jobs in our project areas
- We initiate educational work
- We are networked with organisations and experts

Our work is only possible with the help of many people who, like us, care about the future of our unique nature and our children.

OUR APPROACH

Species conservation through education and development work - all our projects are based on this approach. We work hand-in-hand with people in the affected regions and enable income-generating measures where they are needed. With our education projects, we build bridges for future generations - so that nature and species conservation once again become a natural part of life.

EDUCATION AND DEVELOPMENT

Our experience shows that peaceful coexistence with wildlife can only succeed if the locals of the regions concerned have enough to eat and their livelihoods are secure. These essential needs must be met sustainably in order to protect species in the long term. Successful wildlife protection only works if the local communities are on-board. However, there is often a lack of knowledge or not enough opportunities to generate income while keeping in harmony with nature.

By creating educational opportunities for all, developing and implementing good ideas together, and providing funding to make those ideas a reality, together we implement projects that secure wildlife habitats for the long term while benefiting the local population.
